the way he tackled the thing.

The League of Foreign Born Citizens, which was a Mitchel League in the last campaign, collected what one man described as a full basket of municipal officials last night at Cooper Union. They (the officials) arranged a night on which they were to come forward and tell how they had know their promises, what they they had kept their promises, what they had done and what they were going to do, and as a result of that announcement the place was jammed and about 4,000 persons gave the police crouble trying to President Nathaniel Phillips was manager of the proceedings. And he did manage. He gave each speaker but the Mayor twelve minutes to tell all about his work; shut off the hecklers who wanted to start in on the Glee Club, which enlivened the entertainment with chubert's Serenade, and adjourned the meeting after four hours, at midnight

President McAneny of the Board of Aldermen got the first twelve minutes and after saying that as President he had only the management of seventy-seven very good Aldermen now he talked about the Board of Estimate and Apport tionment, which he called New York's commission form of Government. Then he delicately suggested that the others he delicately suggested that the others should be the ones to answer questions.

Comptroller Prendergast also lightly skirted his subject, as did Borough President Marks, but Henry Brifere overlapped his time telling about the Mitchel administration. Commissioner of Charities Kingsbury had something to say about the 2,599 increase in the number of persons of any cotted daily in the city. fed and clothed daily in the city

Regis by Joseph Stewart, Second Assistant Postmaster-General.

The time will come, Mr. Stewart believed, when the United States will have from 1,500 to 2,000 aeroplanes in its mall carrying service. These aviators and machines could be drafted into the army in time of war, Mr. Stewart explained. He told of several semi-official tests of the aeroplane as a mail carrier that were successful and of his ong fight to get an appropriation from Congress.

"I am very hopeful," he said, "that even if we fail to get the appropriation this year we will be successful next year." Wants Militia Trained to Fly.
